

Faubus Replies Indirectly to Some of Foes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arkansans today had an invitation from a candidate for governor to give their ideas on what should be done about the state's population loss.

If E. Williams called the decline a "calamitous situation" and asked for suggestions on how it could be remedied.

On the other hand, Gov. Orval E. Faubus minimized the population loss in a speech to the Arkansas Pharmaceutical Assn. last night.

He said there was nothing new in the situation and that population had been dropping in his native Madison County since 1900.

Faubus' fourth term foes are trying to make political capital out of the loss of residents.

One point, they said, is that it indicates a failure of the Faubus-sponsored industrialization program.

Williams, one of the four Faubus opponents, announced a 12-point platform yesterday afternoon.

He said it was incomplete though in the matter of population loss and asked for suggestions from Arkansas residents on this point.

He said in a written statement he believed that Arkansans "sense that we are in a tragic situation and that it will take all of us to get out. I have come to the conclusion that no one man has all the answers. I value the judgment of our remaining thousands who do not want Faubusism to completely destroy our great state."

On other fronts, Joe C. Hardin called pupil placement laws "the best answer we have to the integration controversy." Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett urged federal Interstate Commerce Commission action on a northwest Arkansas railroad and Hal Millsap, Jr., continued a tour of north Arkansas, making speeches pegged to local issues.

In his speech Faubus noted that appointments to the state Board of Pharmacy had been recommended by the Pharmaceutical Assn.

His appointments and the fact that a fourth term would mean he would name all members of some boards and commissions have been targets of some of the candidates.

The governor stressed finances, noting that the state debt has been reduced from 180 million dollars to 79 million dollars in the last 25 years.

On other fronts, Joe C. Hardin called state pupil placement laws "the best answer we have to the integration controversy." Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett urged federal Interstate Commerce Commission action on a northwest Arkansas railroad. H. E. Williams presented a 12-point platform and Hal Millsap, Jr., continued a tour of North Arkansas making speeches pegged to local issues.

Earlier yesterday, Faubus hinted that a federal Civil Service Commission investigation of alleged political shakedowns in the Employment Security Division — a probe initiated on charges by Bennett — had resulted in intimidation of some ESD employees by federal investigators.

Hardin, who has attacked a fourth term for Faubus, said yesterday in Pine Bluff, "If you don't stop that fourth term, you can't stop school closings." And, he said, he is opposed to abandonment of public schools in efforts to avert integration.

Williams' platform proposed a 100-man goodwill mission to other states and nations to "remove the stigma" attached to Arkansas as a result of the school integration controversy, a stigma Williams said resulted from Faubus' actions.

Other parts of platform pledged the line against forced integration, removing the Welfare Department from politics, a constitutional amendment to prevent any governor from naming a majority of the state Highway Commission members and creation of an Arkansas Farm Development Commission.

Bennett complained that Carroll and Boone county residents have had trouble shipping goods over the Arkansas and Ozarks Railway because of the line's refusal to repair damaged tracks. Bennett proposed that the ICC look into the situation.

Seeks Additional Airline Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. E. C. Gathings (D-Ark.) has told the Civil Aeronautics Board that regularly scheduled air service from Jonesboro, Ark., to Little Rock, Memphis and St. Louis is essential to economic growth of much of Eastern Arkansas.

The Board has under consideration a case involving air service in an eight-state area. Gathings said Jonesboro is a center for agriculture, education and growing industrialization. It is, he said, the center of one of the largest cotton, rice and soybean producing areas in the country and is the home of Arkansas State College.

Negroes March on Anniversary of Court Ruling

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A march by more than 2,000 Negro students on the heavily guarded Georgia Capitol in Atlanta commemorated the sixth anniversary of the U.S. Supreme Court desegregation decision.

The paraders were diverted from their objective by Atlanta's police chief and held an anti-segregation rally in a church instead.

The Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., widely known Negro integration leader, said the students were "an inspiration to people all over the world who are struggling for freedom and dignity."

The marching footslogs in Atlanta echoed symbolically in other parts of the nation. Students paraded on historic Boston Common and through the main streets of Ann Arbor, Mich.

There was picketing in Chicago, an unsuccessful integration attempt at Montgomery, Ala., sit-downs in Memphis, Tenn., a rally in New York, and government action in the controversy over Negroes swimming at Biloxi, Miss.

Atlanta students parading two-by-two were stopped by Police Chief Herbert Jenkins.

He ordered them to bypass the Capitol where more than 100 state troopers armed with billy clubs and pistols were on guard. The Negroes complied quietly.

In New England, 1,000 students from colleges and universities in the Boston area marched on Boston Common to commemorate the Supreme Court ruling. Students also paraded at Springfield, Mass.

University of Michigan students, about 100 strong, staged a march through Ann Arbor's main streets celebrating the anniversary. The day was proclaimed Freedom Day by Mayor Cecil O. Creal and the students were given a motorcycle police escort.

An estimated 10,000 garment center workers took part in an outdoor rally in New York in connection with the Supreme Court decision. The rally also served to protest tax evasion charges lodged against King in Alabama.

In Chicago, 250 Negro and white high school and college students picketed a downtown variety store commemorating the desegregation decision and in sympathy with lunch counter sit-downs in the South.

At Montgomery, two Negroes who were expelled from Alabama State College for earlier racial activities were thwarted in attempts to use the Capitol cafeteria and city library traditionally reserved for white persons.

Five arrests and a minor scuffle marked sit-down demonstrations by nine Negro college students at Memphis, Tenn. The arrests were made in a drug store. Two Negroes who sat down at a variety store lunch counter were shoved out on to the sidewalk by white youths.

The Justice Department filed a suit in federal court at Vicksburg, Miss., designed to end segregation on Gulf Coast beaches in that state. Fights erupted between Negroes and white persons last month after Negroes attempted to swim at Biloxi Beach.

At Chattanooga, Tenn., the Hamilton County juvenile court went on record as "recognizing the right" of Negro juveniles to engage in sit-in demonstrations in limited numbers and in orderly fashion.

Three Hurt in Accident at Fulton

BALTIMORE (AP) — A record-breaking wave of votes in the Maryland primary propelled Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts closer to the Democratic presidential nomination today.

Reeling off his sixth straight primary victory, the Massachusetts senator outdrew the combined opposition almost 3-1.

With Maryland's 24, he now has an unofficial total of 294½ votes toward the 71 needed for nomination at the Democratic National Convention.

He and Sen. Wayne Morse, a distant runner-up in Tuesday's balloting, took up in another primary Friday, this time in Oregon, Morse's home territory.

Returns from 1,353 of 1,356 polling places showed these totals: Kennedy 200,252; Morse 49,225.

The next biggest batch, 25,071, favored sending Maryland's delegation uncommitted to the July 11 convention.

The rest of the ballots were cast for two perennial also-rans who sometimes campaign in Uncle Sam suits—Lar Daly of Chicago, with 7,407, and Andrew J. Easter of Baltimore with 3,853.

Kennedy's vote was about 73 per cent of the total cast, which turned in came to about 33 per cent of the 36,378 eligible Democrats.

But it exceeded by 66,000 the previous high of 134,000 received in the 1952 Maryland presidential primary by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.). Kefauver ran only U. of A. is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Watkins of Hope.

Malinovsky's Hand Seen in Background

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

Associated Press News Analyst
PARIS (AP) — Some Western observers see Marshal Rodion Malinovsky, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's constant companion at the stillborn summit conference, as a man whose influence may play an important role in Kremlin politics.

The stocky, square-jawed Soviet defense minister would probably play an important part in any struggle for power that developed in the Soviet Union.

This does not mean that he would necessarily oppose Khrushchev. There are plain indications, however, that within the armed forces there has arisen a hard core of resentment which could ally itself with political forces opposing Khrushchev's foreign and domestic policies.

The Soviet army has long regarded itself as immune to the pressures which play upon other elements in the dictatorial society. This is particularly true of its officer corps. They are known to have resented the cuts in the armed forces which Khrushchev directed in order to give emphasis to the peace offensive which — up to now — has colored his foreign policy.

At the Paris conference, Khrushchev seemed to be unusually attentive to Malinovsky. The question naturally arose whether there was any connection between this and Khrushchev's startling performance.

In two days, the Soviet Premier rolled back the years to the edgy and dangerous days of 1948 — when Joseph Stalin blockaded Berlin. Not in the 12 years since have feelings between the Soviet Union and the United States been so taut.

Who is responsible for Khrushchev's sudden shift? Is it the army, allied with certain politicians? If so, where does Malinovsky stand?

Angry West Europe Blames Khrushchev for Summit Collapse

Soviet Premier Booed Through Paris Streets

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

PARIS (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev was booed in the streets today as he rode about on farewell calls after blocking all Western efforts to revive the summit conference.

President Eisenhower, the Soviet Premier's target, drew shouts of "bravo" on a surprise visit to Notre Dame, the cathedral church of Paris.

Eisenhower, Khrushchev and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan are all due to leave Thursday for their capitals.

Bags were packed in an atmosphere of bitterness and disgust, with Western experts expecting a new series of cold war blarney from Khrushchev before he finally heads out.

President Eisenhower will fly to Lisbon, Portugal, for an overnight visit — advancing a trip he originally planned to make next Monday. He expects to return to Washington Friday.

A special meeting of the 15-nation North Atlantic Treaty Council was called for Thursday to hear a report from the Western Big Three on the summit conference.

Foreign ministers of the United States, Britain and France were reported to have agreed that the total collapse of the Big Four talks means an increase in East-West tensions and grave new difficulties in disarmament negotiations.

The Soviet chief, accompanied by Marshal Rodion Malinovsky, defense minister, made a goodbye visit to Macmillan at the British Embassy and French President Charles de Gaulle at the Elysee Palace.

Khrushchev was first booed by a small crowd outside the British Embassy. He drove from there to the Elysee Palace, and spent 40 minutes talking with De Gaulle.

The usually ebullient Khrushchev sat back in his limousine and looked glum.

U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd met for 70 minutes at the French Foreign Office to assess the dangers to East-West relations and world peace.

They were reported to have agreed that prospects for East-West accord on initial disarmament measures are far dimmer than before the Big Four gathered here. The chance of solving the remaining problems in nuclear weapons test ban negotiations had declined, they felt.

May Call for a German Peace Treaty

By JACK KOEHLER

BERLIN (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev, when he stops off in East Berlin en route home from the shattered summit parley, may call for a German peace conference as a prelude to a Communist peace treaty with East Germany.

Speculation that the Soviet Premier would sign a peace pact with the German satellite regime during his visit was labeled "ridiculous" by Horst Sindermann, East German propaganda chief.

Observers here believe Khrushchev, after conferring with East German Communist party chief Walter Grotewohl, will address a mass rally and reiterate his old line that the Allied occupation of West Berlin must end.

But they think it quite likely that he will sound the call for all nations which fought Nazi Germany to meet on a certain date to work out a peace treaty for both West and East Germany.

The Western Allies would certainly reject this, and Khrushchev then would hold an all-Communist conference to sign a treaty with East Germany alone.

Sindermann, in a radio-television interview Tuesday night, stressed that a peace pact would never be signed until after a full-fledged peace conference. For the record, he added that "it still is entirely possible that we achieve a peace treaty with the two German states."

Inviting all nations who fought Germany would give the conference a legal flavor, in the Communist viewpoint at least. But the Soviets obviously realize the Western Allies would not show up without prior negotiations at the summit. Thus only the Communist bloc nations would attend, and a Red peace pact would emerge.

Many observers were still trying to probe what was behind Khrushchev's uncompromising, almost Stalinist, new policy.

"The most likely explanation is that Khrushchev's power in Russia is waning steadily," suggested the London Daily Express.

Nearly everywhere it was assumed the Soviet leader was under heavy pressure from home.

Eisenhower, after widespread criticism for the handling of the spy plane incident, came out of the Paris debacle with enhanced prestige. Britain's Daily Mirror summed up a sheaf of European tribute thus: "He has behaved with such splendid dignity."

At the end of the 4th week of the 7 week Sunday School Contest between the local Gospel Tabernacle and the New Bethel Assembly of God in Ft. Smith, the score is 74 to 50 in favor of the local group. This is a gain of 5 points for the Tabernacle in the past week.

The basis of competition is the church showing the largest number of increase in attendance above the 1958-59 Sunday School average attendance.

With just 3 weeks remaining in the contest the local congregation is contemplating a large advance, once this Sunday with the hope of attaining an even larger point margin.

Calls Resound for Allied Unity and Firmness

By DENNIS NEEDLE

LONDON (AP) — Western Europe, angered and disappointed by the summit conference collapse, resounded today with new calls for Allied firmness and unity to face looming cold war dangers.

Not since the Hungarian revolt of 1956 had Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev drawn such bitter criticism. Blame for the breakdown of the Big Four meeting was planted so squarely on the Kremlin doorstep.

Resumption of bitter cold war diplomacy was taken almost for granted, but there apparently was little fear at this stage that a shocking war was imminent.

In the Soviet Union, the Communist propaganda machine moved into top gear in support of Khrushchev's tough line with the West. Press and radio poured out thousands of words denouncing President Eisenhower for his refusal to condemn U.S. reconnaissance flights over the U.S.S.R. and to punish those responsible for them.

"The Soviet Communist party organ Pravda reported that in Moscow alone 5,640 meetings, attended by 1,250,000 people were held in factories, schools and offices to protest America's 'aggressive behavior.'"

Huge banner headlines reflected Western Europe's dismay — and also its determination not to yield to Soviet threats.

"Summit full-stop," cried Britain's Daily Express. "Killed, ruined and torn to pieces by Nikita Khrushchev."

Dutch Foreign Minister Joseph Luns told his Parliament: "I have full confidence that the West will be firm in the face of Khrushchev's new threatening attitude. United, we should have no fear for the future."

There were similar appeals for close Western unity in most of the free capitals.

Many observers were still trying to probe what was behind Khrushchev's uncompromising, almost Stalinist, new policy.

"The most likely explanation is that Khrushchev's power in Russia is waning steadily," suggested the London Daily Express.

Nearly everywhere it was assumed the Soviet leader was under heavy pressure from home.

Eisenhower, after widespread criticism for the handling of the spy plane incident, came out of the Paris debacle with enhanced prestige. Britain's Daily Mirror summed up a sheaf of European tribute thus: "He has behaved with such splendid dignity."

Promises Arms to Philippines

MANILA (AP) — Dudley C. Sharp, U.S. Air Force secretary, today promised modern equipment to increase the striking power of the Philippine and Nationalist Chinese air forces.

He said Filipino airmen, who have expressed dissatisfaction with the equipment sent them, will get air-to-air Sidewinder missiles and possibly all-weather interceptors.

Sharp said President Chiang Kai-shek's air force on Formosa has been promised new F-104 jet fighters. The Chinese Nationalists have complained their obsolete F-86 Sabre Jets are no match for newer Communist MIG-17 fighters.

Battling Parents Break Child's Heart

Dear Dorothy Dix: Recently Mom and Dad have fought. Mom was even about to get the rolling pin. I am very scared that this family will not be one soon. Just tonight at dinner Dad shouted at Mom (in front of us kids). "Why in the hell are you carrying on this damn conversation?" I broke into tears and Dad said, "Why in the hell don't you shut up?" I need help. I hate to see Mom cry. — From Member of an Unhappy Family

Dear Little Member of an Unhappy Family: Go see a minister of your faith. Show him your letter and my answer. Ask his help.

Dear Dorothy Dix: My problem is shyness. I have a reputation for being "the life of the party" so it strikes me as rather strange when I find myself being shy with the one boy it is important to impress. He is not shy either but acts that way when we're together. Is there a tangible solution so that both the boy and I can feel more natural with each other? Any response will be greatly appreciated. Incidentally, I am a 15-year-old sophomore. — Shy One

Dear Shy One: Show me the girl who hasn't been stricken dumb in the presence of her dreamboat. It's all part of the process of growing up — a painful period at best, through which all teen-agers — boys, as well as girls, must pass. Once you understand this, it won't be so hard to take. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflets, "Helpful Book for Teen-agers," "Teen-agers' Code," and "Sex Education for Teen-agers."

Dear Dorothy Dix: I have a friend who is single around 45, attractive and holds a position of responsibility. She has been a widow for ten years and married and other 12 years old.

Dear A. D.: Your friend needs to enlarge her horizon. Tell her to save toward a bang-up vacation in an exotic land. Remember Nellie Forbush in "South Pacific"? Whether or not the widow lands a husband — and she probably will — such a trip will open up a whole new world. Even the planning of it will be a tonic for her.

Send your problem to DOROTHY DIX. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, and address her in care of this newspaper.

Chapter III
THE STORY: Ry Buckner escapes from Spence Rigby's men and takes refuge in the home of Dorcas Lane, Ry's sweetheart of five years ago. Dorcas isn't there, and in her place is Prudence, her sister. She suspects Ry has come to Signal to settle some score with Duke Jordan.

Wind awoke Gully Jordan, pressing hard against his old ranch-house and prowling the eaves.

He was feeling his age tonight, and his 72 years were like the darkness, cold and crowding. He tried getting out of the rocker, but a blanket had been wrapped around his legs. That pesky girl, of course! Found him snoozing in the chair and fixed him up like some helpless babe and blew out the lamp and tiptoed from the room. Guess she'd meant well, though. He felt ashamed at his own annoyance.

He fumbled for the lamp. Its chimney was cold; he'd been asleep for some time. Beyond the windows blackness lay, the moon lost in a cloud rack. That wind swept down off the Garnet Hills, off Table Mountain and here in the valley it moved across the broad acres of his Boxed J. His cattle would be drifting before it, seeking the draws and coulees. Across the other ranches, too, the wind would be keening — across Oxbow and Anchor 4 and Pot-hook, across small spreads and come to Alder Gulch, and single because he'd found no girl that hit his fancy and he'd moved too fast across the frontier to look for one. But he'd walked into that Virginia City saloon-gurdy house and had one dance with Lily and told her he was taking her out of there. They'd got married that very night, and he reckoned he'd never been sorry. That's where Duke got his good looks and maybe the weak side of him, too, but things might have been different if the fever hadn't taken Lily, leaving Duke half an orphan at eight.

Half an orphan like little Buckner had been.

He might not have been the brightest man to settle in Montana Territory, but he'd noticed a thing or two at Virginia City. It wasn't the men who dug the gold who ended up rich; he'd observed. Base a future on what a claim would bring, and you likely ended up sore-backed and busted. Cattle would be the coming thing, he'd judged, and he'd got him some. He'd started this ranch from scratch and fought off roving Sioux and Crow and a few rustlers.

He sighed, reckoning that he should get on out to the bunkhouse. Maybe Duke was there, rolled in his blankets. Maybe Duke had ridden in after that girl had put out the lamp and, seeing the house dark, had supposed his old dad long gone to bed and so hadn't even looked to see if Gully Jordan's bunk was empty or not. And that was another thing that didn't set well, he reflected, being pushed out of his own bed and his own house, along with Duke, because they'd got them a female bookkeeper and people mustn't be given anything to talk about, what with Duke's not getting around to that wedding.

He moved back to the table to blow out the lamp. Only then did he see the scrap of paper and make out the blur of writing. He looked around for his glasses and began cursing till he found them. He got them onto his nose, and the words of the note took shape:

Dad Jordan:
You fell asleep in your chair, so I am going to put out the lamp. Duke came home a little while ago, but we felt it best not to wake you. He's gone again and may not be back for awhile. Please do not worry. I'm riding into Signal tonight on a little errand. I may be quite late before I get back.

He crumpled the note in his huge fist and flung it away. Then he kicked the blanket that lay on the floor, the one the girl had put around his legs. More of this treating him like an old horse put out to pasture. Plain as print what they were really thinking: Gully Jordan had got too old. Too old to run his own ranch. Too old to be trusted with truths. And so they left him alone, blanket wrapped and made comfortable as could be, left him to fears that were the more dreadful because nowadays he was always left groping in the dark.

Dynamiter Will Appeal Sentence

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — An appeal in the state Supreme Court is expected to delay a five-year prison sentence given a Negro yesterday for a bombing witnessed said was intended to cause a commotion and a lot of publicity.

An all-white jury of seven men and five women found Herbert Odell Monts, 17, guilty of taking part in the Feb. 29 bombing at the home of Carolyn Walls, whose daughter, Carlotta, is a student at integrated Central High School.

The jury fixed punishment at the maximum imprisonment of five years, but the conviction is expected to be appealed.

The Walls girl, one of five Negroes at Central this year, was one of the "Little Rock nine" who first integrated the school in 1957.

An FBI agent, Milford J. Runnels, testified yesterday that Monts said he thought the bombing would result in the Walls family getting "a lot of donations" as a result of the commotion and publicity.

Earlier, Little Rock Detective A. L. Thelcumb testified Monts said he thought the bombing would bring "donations" from up North.

No one was injured in the blast, which damaged the house only slightly.

Monts, who lives near the Walls family, said a co-defendant, Maceo Antonio Binn, 31, had promised him $50. Runnels testified.

Signed statements officers said were made by Monts named Binn as instigator of the bombing. Binn is to be tried later.

The statements did not include references to donations. Officers said those comments were made in oral admissions.

The only defense witness, the Rev. O. W. Gibson, a neighbor of Monts, testified that when he visited the victim in the police station, side of his face was swollen. He said Monts told him he had been kicked by the officer.

FBI Agent Thompson B. Wood testified in court that Monts showed no sign of injury when he examined him after Gibson had reported Monts' falling.

Four white men have been sentenced as a result of earlier integration-related bombings here. One pleaded guilty and is in prison. The others are appealing their convictions.

Hope Legionnaires Drop Opening Game 9-2

RAY DUKE, SHORTSTOP

WAYNE JOHNSON, PITCHER

YOUR EDITOR WAS AMONG THE SMALL BUT ENTHUSIASTIC crowd which turned out at Fair Park Tuesday night to see Hope's American Legion team open the baseball season against DeQueen.

There was lots of action among the batters, but luck wasn't with us in capturing it on film. We turned off the electronic flash battery to save juice while DeQueen was at bat (there being no DeQueen subscribers in our circulation), and of course there were times when we forgot to turn it back on when the first Hope player came up.

Hope has two left-handed hitters, W. H. Gunter and Bob White, but when we swanned around to the left side of the plate to shoot them a film clip jammed in the camera. Not to mention some snide remarks from Roy Anderson and others in the grandstand. But that's how the hoot-owls hoot on Opening Night at the Ball Game. The pictures were made on Polaroid film in a Speed Graphic camera with the 14-inch Schneider telephoto lens.

Chisox Still Unbeaten in Home Park

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

There's no place like home for those Chicago White Sox, who are as yet unbeaten in Comiskey Park.

The defending American League champs poned back into first place with their seventh straight home victory Tuesday night, defeating Boston 11-6. They did it with 11 hits off Tom Brewer, the right-hander who blanked them on two hits a week ago in Boston.

Kansas City helped by defeating Baltimore 4-2, ending the Birds' one-day stay on top and clipping their winning streak at five games. The loss dropped Baltimore to third, a half-game behind and in a virtual tie with Cleveland for second place. The Indians dropped New York to fourth 7-6. Detroit blanked Washington into the cellar 3-1.

In the National League, San Francisco retained a one-game edge by whipping Cincinnati 9-3. Second-place Pittsburgh rapped Chicago's Cubs 11-6 and Los Angeles sent third-place Milwaukee sliding two games behind with a 6-1 decision on Frank Howard's first major league grand slam.

St. Louis at Philadelphia was rained out.

The White Sox tagged the Red Sox with their fourth straight defeat in a four-run fifth, scoring three on Sunny Esposito's bases-loaded double. Esposito, who came in batting .100, was 2-for-3 and drove in four runs against Brewer (2-3). Bob Shaw (3-2) won it.

A two-run homer by Whitey Herzog broke up a 2-2 tie in the seventh for the A's, who had been held to three hits for six innings by loser Milt Pappas (2-3). Leo Kary 1-0 won it with a 2-1 in nings of hillless relief, although he forced in the tying run in the seventh when he hit Clint Courtney with the bases loaded.

The Indians packed away seven of their 12 hits in the first two innings, chasing rookie Bill Short (2-2) with five runs in that span. They got the clincher in the sixth when reliever Duke Maas hit winner Gray Bell (5-1) and then gave up a two-out double by Jimmy Piersall. Bell, first to win five in the AL, needed Dick Stigman's one-out relief for his fourth straight victory after the Yankees scored four unearned runs in the ninth. Mickey Mantle's third homer brought in three of them.

Detroit sent Pete Ramos (0-5) to his seventh consecutive loss since last September when Norm Cash doubled and Chico Fernandez tripled for a second-inning run and a 2-0 lead. Frank Lary (3-2) won his second in a row, both over the Nats.

Howard Is the Current Dodger Favorite

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

When Frank Howard, the latest of the new Babe Ruths, first showed up in the majors, they called him "The Thing" and "The Beast." But he's strictly a 6-foot-7, 245-pound thing of beauty for the Los Angeles Dodgers at the moment.

The sometimes temperamental thumper, who couldn't decide whether to pout or clout in spring training, squashed the Dodgers' top nemesis Tuesday night, beating right-hander Bob Buhl and the Milwaukee Braves 6-1 with his first grand slam home run in the National League.

It was Milwaukee's sixth defeat in 10 games and left the third-place Braves just one game over .500, five lengths back of front-running San Francisco. The Giants shook a run-scoring slump and whipped Cincinnati 9-3, retaining their one-game edge over second-place Pittsburgh. The Pirates defeated Chicago's Cubs 11-6 with the help of six unearned runs. St. Louis at Philadelphia was rained out.

In the American League, the Chicago White Sox regained first place by beating Boston 11-6. Kansas City ended Baltimore's one-

Legionnaires Drop Game to DeQueen 9-2

A couple of errors in the 4th and 7th innings blew a 2-0 lead for the Hope Legionnaires last night as they lost the opening game of the season to DeQueen by a 9-2 score.

The errors were coupled with timely hits including a home run by DeQueen's Wilson.

Johnson went the distance for Hope and was charged with the loss. He gave up 15 hits. He made five runs on singles by Steve Marlar, Johnson and Bill Gunter. Adams, who relieved the starter, Butch Wright, was credited with the win.

In other league play last night, the Nashville Cubs mowed down Arkadelphia 15 to 10.
